I. INTRODUCTION

We will remember 2014 with the celebration of the 20th Anniversary of Animus Association Foundation. The celebration was held under the motto “20 Years Animus – 20 Years Accessible Psychotherapeutic Help”. 21st of November brought many like-minded people together – the current employees of the organization, former colleagues, supporters, friends over the years, partners, etc. The anniversary was a reason for us to think about the contribution that we have made to the Bulgarian community and, most of all, to the people who have suffered psychological trauma and to whom the efforts of the organization are devoted. Currently, Animus Association Foundation is a sustainable and popular organization within the community not only because of the highly qualified professional team and the accessible psychotherapeutic support, but also because the organization never refuses help and assistance even to the most vulnerable groups of people who find themselves in the severest crisis situations.

For the past 20 years Animus Association Foundation has grown so much that it currently employs more than 80 people and is already an organization that is powerful enough to have a public influence for the sake of protecting the rights and interest of its clients. At the same time, the work with the state institutions involved in the protection of victims of violence has been seriously handicapped over the past year. Our organization had a serious debate with the Ministry of Justice about the way in which the Fund for Combating Domestic Violence is managed. Apart from that, the ministry allocates only half of the fund of 500 000 BGN per year ensured by the Bulgarian state for combating domestic violence to non-governmental organizations. For years now we have been asking about what is going on with the rest of the resources foreseen in the state budget. We believe that due to the lack of understanding of the problematics of the victims of domestic violence, the Social Assistance Agency at the Ministry of Labour and Social Policy is currently minimizing and decapacitating the already elaborated Coordination Mechanism for Help and Support of Survivors of Domestic Violence. Another challenge that we faced over past year concerns the work of the Ministry of the Interior. As a program operator of the Norwegian Financial Mechanism 2009 – 2014, Directorate “International Projects” of the Ministry of the Interior delayed the evaluation of the project proposals submitted under Measure BG 12 “Domestic Violence and Gender-based Violence” with months and thus deprived non-governmental institutions in Bulgaria from resources to combat domestic violence. All these challenges demonstrate that instead of facilitating and supporting us in the work with the most severe cases of domestic violence, the institutions relevant to the problems of the victims of domestic violence in Bulgaria build in us the feeling that we are tilting at windmills. This deprives us of much of our energy but does not discourage us. This is how, we at Animus Association foundation, have faced the challenges and hardship over the years. We recover and move on. At the same time, we can gladly state that the media have always supported us at difficult times and help us in the work on specific cases.

The direct work with people has always been a main priority for our organization. A total of 19 095 clients were counselled at the organization in 2014. Of those, 16,373 were consultations at the 116 111 National Helpline for Children in Bulgaria and 1,455 were the consultations delivered at the National Helpline for Survivors of Violence. 74 clients were placed in the Crisis Center for Survivors of Violence and a total of 753 clients benefitted from the services provided at the Center for Counselling, Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis and the Trauma Center at Animus Association Foundation. In the Social Services Center for Children and Families run by the organization a total of 409 children and parents were counselled and 31 mothers and babies were accommodated in the Mother and Baby Unit.

In 2014, it has been 5 years since the 116 111 National Helpline for Children was launched in Bulgaria. The helpline is funded and monitored by the State Agency for Child Protection. Animus Association Foundation has been operating the line after winning a competition under the Bulgarian Public Procurement Act in 2010. The popularity of the helpline continues to grow and the number of the calls increased to such an extent that in 2014 the line received 120,000 calls and another 240,000 children, adolescents, parents and professionals waited on the line and were not able to reach the consultants due to the business of the line. The large number of children and adolescents looking for support at the child helpline is indicative of how little we the adults talk to our children.

The children and adolescents calling at the National Helpline for Children 116 111 share mainly about problems in their relationships with peers, at school or in the family, but also about various emotional problems, survived violence, or the need for information on topics that concern them. Children from institutions also talk about their problems at the helpline. The direct work with children keeps us in constant contact with their real problems.

In 2014 Anims Association Foundation continued to operate the Social Services Center for Children and Families in Sofia which consists of a Community Support Center and a Mother and Baby Unit. The management of the social services center has gradually turned the organization into the biggest provider of psychotherapeutic services in Sofia. The Community Support Center maintains a high level of professional standards and files reports on violence against children even in cases when other institutions involved in the protection of children in Bulgaria deny that such violence has been experienced by particular children. Additionally, the Community Support Center often is the only unit in the City of Sofia rejecting people with low parental capacity to adopt children. For us this is a matter of professional ethics and is undertake in the name of the well-being of the child.

The management of the Mother and Baby Unit continues to be a serious challenge for the organization as the mothers with destructive behavior are often a threat to their newborn babies. Our colleagues at the Mother and Baby Unit work with devotion with these young women and often have to make difficult decisions in the name of the life, health and the best interest of the child. On a daily basis we are confronted with difficult moral dilemmas and often it is hard for our professionals to make the best decisions for the mothers and the babies.
In 2014 a total of 21 projects were implemented at Animus Association Foundation in the following fields: support of children and families, child participation, domestic violence and trafficking in human beings.

We proudly state that one of the important European projects of the organization in 2014, dealing with the point of view of children on the topic of school bullying, was ranked on the first place among more than 400 project proposals submitted in the particular call of the DAPHNE III Program of the European Union by non-governmental organizations from the whole of Europe. This means that Animus Association Foundation is both competitive at European level and is always well aware of the most topical and relevant issues of children and women. The issue of peer violence is attracting much attention today.

In 2014 we also launched a project entitled “Zippy’s Friends – The Future Citizens of Bulgaria” supported by our partners and friends from Norway – Voksne for Barn. For the first time in our organization, the project places the promotion of mental health as an investment in the future. So far we have always involved in therapy and trauma prevention and the promotion of mental health is an inspiring new beginning for us. Within the 24 lessons of the training program called “Zippy’s Friends”, young children learn to better understand their own emotions and the feelings of others, to handle difficulties and conflicts and to communicate without violence and aggression. The team of Animus Association Foundation was licensed to disseminate the program in Bulgaria and is excited to work with children aged 6-7 and to see in their eyes the meaning of the program.

In 2014 Animus Training Center organized a total of 307 training events, involving 1 428 participants. The trainings were held both at the Training Centre of Animus Association Foundation and at venues across the country.

We are extremely grateful to all the people who supported our ideas in 2014. These are the people who believe in us, the members of the Board, our donors, the team of psychotherapists and social workers who constantly strive to grow professionally and to provide quality services, the volunteers, university students and interns who with their hard work and dedication support the social programs of the organization. The volunteers and interns have helped in the most challenging programs and services offered at the organization – the “Saint Petka” Crisis Center, the National Hotline for Survivors of Violence, the Mother and Baby Unit, where the numbers of people in need are the largest.

Within three years of providing social services in the Community Support Center at the Social Services Center for Children and Families, we were able to win the trust of customers, received their recognition of our efforts to work quality and mostly in their interest. During these three years we have gained fruitful partnership, built a working mechanism of interaction with all institutions.

In 2014 we can define as signature achievement, at the end of November we signed a new three-year contract for the management of the Social Services Centre for Children and Families with Sofia Municipality. In terms of greater competition among providers of social services in Sofia-city adopted a very serious challenge of applying and winning the contest was preceded by serious preparation for application. The team of the Social Services Centre for Children and Families accepts commissioned trust mostly as expected in the future to continue to maintain the high quality of social services, to maintain highly specialized, professional team and trained to meet the needs of the community to support children and families.

And in 2014 the team of the Social Services Centre for Children and Families continued to work in all programs spelled with a large number of users. Again in 2014 analysis shows that the flow of customers of the Community Support Center significantly higher number of cases of child witnesses and victims of violence, children with delinquent behavior, children with behavioral problems from a wide register and children involved in family war with the risk of PAS syndrome. It is noteworthy that during the three years of management of the Community Support Center firmly establish our program evaluation and training. of the candidate - adoptive parents. Conducted individual form of work gives more insight into the functioning and dynamics of the relationships in the family, to assist candidate - adoptive parents. The group format provides training space for the participation of all prospective adopters for free expression of questions and comments, as well acquainted with the regulations. For 2015 we have set ourselves the goal to develop individual and group form of post-adoption counseling.

In 2014 the team providing services in the Community Support Center, working with seriously exceeded capacity - 37.50%. Regardless of the exceeded capacity we always kept the quality of services provided. Leading us not amount i.e. the large number of cases and the customer to obtain the desired change and to achieve the best for the child. Important evidence of the quality of care is applied effective and reliable monitoring system, where an important tool for the development of the program is the feedback from customers. Kind words and thanks expressed by users of the social services act motivating the team and give us strength to continue to work very dedicated in the name of the best interests of the children in Bulgaria.

"Mother and baby" Unit

And in 2014 the team of "Mother and Baby" Unit, works with cases that are complicated and require additional resources and training of the staff. Such cases were working with minors, low capacitance mothers, mothers with mental health problems, mothers with mental disabilities, mothers with traumatic experience, mothers with institutional experience and others. Challenge was to service management and the employees except the daily process of providing psychological and social support for mothers, aimed at fostering relations of affection with the baby, as well as towards developing skills for maternity in a manner consistent with the needs of the baby to develop activities and empowerment and education of mothers in order to obtain autonomy and independence.

Our efforts paid off with the following achievements: was secure accommodation and shelter to 16 clients and 15 children. All clients of "Mother and Baby" Unit received health advice from the nurse of The Unit and other health facilities / CPH "N. Shipkovenski ", YAGB" Maternity ", YMBALSM " Pirogov ", UB Alexandrovskva , VII th DCC, DCC XI th, II Second City Hospital, V-th City Hospital, Regional Hospital, Hospital " Naum ", etc. /, socio-legal advice from a team of social workers, counseling by psychologists of CSS to SSCCF, motivational training, training in parenting skills, mediation, binding supportive family environment and others. Eleven clients were consulted for labor and civil rights, were trained in the preparation of resumes and cover letters, actively involved in the program on Empowerment and managed to find a job. Six clients received assistance in finding rental housing, and five clients were successfully integrated in their family environment. Five children were recorded in the information system for childcare classified and recorded in childcare. A girl nine years old coming from family with domestic violence was transferred to a suitable school for child. A customer from Cameroon was assisted to receive the necessary documents for traveling to her own country. Sixteen clients received assistance for aid and maternity law ZSPD. Three clients victims of domestic violence were consulted about their rights to legal assistance and received a restraining order for abusers. Two clients received assistance for removal of personal documents. Eighteen children were enrolled in GPs consulted immunized on schedule and reviewed by a pediatrician.

For the last three years "Mother and Baby" Unit is managed by the Foundation "Animus Association" promoting its practice of providing the service. Significantly, suppliers who provide such a service, as well as those who are about disclosure of such service we are looking for training and exchange of experiences for our good practice in the provision of social services.
The Crisis Unit "Sveta Petka" is the only place in Sofia to accommodate victims of domestic violence, women and children. The service is used by victims of domestic violence not only from Sofia and Sofia region, but also throughout the country. Since its establishment the team of the Crisis Unit has accumulated its own unique experience and has clearly established operating procedures. Throughout the 16 years of its establishment since 1999 until today, the Crisis Unit has never been closed and has not stopped working with clients.

The maintenance of the services is a serious challenge to the team and is accompanied by a lot of effort. "Crisis Unit" includes a set of activities that assist victims of domestic violence to stop the violence, to get out of the situation of abuse and to recover from the experience. The process of going out from a situation of violence and the recovery is long and individual. The required time depends on the duration of the violence and the coping capacity of the customers.

The emergency accommodation, the timely psychological support and the social advocacy are activities that create the basic conditions for coping in a situation of violence. The continuous non-stop mode of the Crisis Unit enables timely support, which in some cases is lifesaving.

Many of the women who turn to the Crisis Unit for support are in a state of deadlock, provoked by recent beatings or other acts of violence against them or their children, or generally by an event in their lives, which they feel they cannot cope with. This is usually associated with a sense of urgently needed change, accompanied with confusion, exhaustion, fear and frustration.

There is a trend that has been permanently preserved during the past year at the assessment of risk and its management in the cases of victims of domestic violence.
violence that have contacted the Crisis Unit "Sveta Petka", and the trend shows that they are associated with particularly severe, life-threatening physical violence, such as fractures of the ribs, femur, lacerated - concussion wounds in the head, death threats, rape in marriage, threats of shooting with owned firearm, attempted strangling with wire, brain concussion due to severe beating, beatings in public. These cases required collaborated and well coordinated actions by the services and institutions relevant to the problem. In the cases described above, the children are witnesses of the acts of domestic violence or have been subjected to physical and emotional abuse - offensive and degrading treatment, shearings, restriction of their personal liberty.

Another common problem that we come across in our casework on domestic violence, continues to be the frequent re-victimization of the victims by some of the offices and institutions. Cases which lack timely intervention and a coordinated approach, do not make an exception. This on the other hand leads to placing the victims in a high risk for their health and lives.

It is observed a lack of trust in the clients towards the institutions, procedures and paperwork, which in most of the cases remain incomprehensible to them and the deadlines seem to have infinite length, especially in situations of extreme urgency. As it turns out, the government institutions with their bureaucracy cannot answer relevantly the needs of clients exiting a situation of violence.

Another problem is the lack of public awareness concerning the rights of victims of domestic violence, the imposing of the measures of protection, as well as insufficient knowledge of the powers of the institution whose workers identify the cases which to a large extent prevents their successful resolution.

Regardless of the urgency and the seriousness of the case it is observed a delay of issuing a warrant for immediate protection, which to a large extent falters the victims and increases their doubts about their safety and support.
In this line of thought in the past year it was of upmost importance the initiation on behalf of the team in the cooperation with other structures, involved in the resulting of the problems of victims of violence. Thus one of the main tasks in this past year was the maintenance, accessibility and involvement of other services for ensuring possibilities to continue the support of the victims. Significant efforts were put into visiting the involved services which is a good form of investment, resulting in an increased efficiency and number of the joint caseworks.
The project "Trauma Center for Children and Families" is implemented by Animus Association Foundation and is funded by the Swiss-Bulgarian Cooperation Program. The project launched on the 1st of September 2013 and go on for three years until 31st of August 2016. The project aims at the provision of social services within the social system by introducing an innovative element - a specialized trauma center complementing the services provided by the child protection system in Bulgaria.

The "Trauma Center for Children and Families" provides free programs for children who have experienced traumatic events and their parents so that they can have the opportunity to recover from their experiences.

Through the programs that it offers to children, the Trauma Center for Children and Families improves children’s resilience and the opportunities to process the traumatic events they have experienced in their lives and to deal with their consequences in the future. The project helps parents to increase their capacity for good parenting and to create a supportive family environment in which children can grow safely and securely. Support is also provided for the important figures in a child's life outside the family which are key to the development and adaptation of the child in society.
In 2014 it has been 5 years since the National Helpline for Children was launched. The helpline, which is owned and monitored by the Bulgarian State Agency for Child Protection, is managed by Animus Association Foundation under a public procurement procedure.

The helpline is a very accessible service that is used by both children and adults throughout the country. Some of the important advantages of the services are that it is a free 24-hour service providing counselling, support and information on a wide range of children’s issues. The child helpline receives between 8,000 и 9,000 calls monthly. The helpline is a quick and accessible channel for providing information about a child at risk. In 2014, 461 cases for at-risk children were filed to various child protection departments so as to initiate an on-the-spot check. This figure exceeds the number of reports for at-risk children filed in 2013 with 13%. This increase in the number of reports for at-risk children is a lasting trend which clearly demonstrates the growing popularity of the helpline and the fact that the child helpline is easily recognizable as an accessible channel for reporting cases for at-risk children as well as a tool for receiving psychological support and assistance.

The team of the child helpline consists of qualified professionals in the area of psychology, social work or specialized pedagogy, who are trained to work with children. The alternation of night and day shifts of the employed consultants ensures the 24-hour mode of functioning of the helpline.

7. Project: “Introducing Participatory and Child-centered Approach for Early Identification and Prevention of Bullying in School Setting in 7 EU Countries”

December 1st 2014 - November 30th 2016

Funded by the DAPHNE III Program of the European Union

The project is implemented in partnership with 6 NGOs from Romania, Slovakia, Sweden, Germany, the UK and the Netherlands. The overall goal of the project is to involve children in preventing bullying and in creating safe environment at school through a participatory, interactive and empowering way.

We are proud to inform that the project was ranked first among EU projects.

The participating countries will provide for social platforms that enable students to share their personal opinion and experience on the topics of bullying, violence and safety. Students will have the opportunity to be active participants throughout the whole process. 90 students in Bulgaria will take part in interactive workshops and will share their opinion and suggestions regarding bullying in the context of their schools.

Another 90 students will have the chance to partake in the preventive workshops, providing concrete guidelines and programs that the children could apply in situations of bullying. Animus Association Foundation will provide psychotherapeutic programs and psychological support to 120 students, victims of bullying, as well as their parents. AAF centre will provide counseling to victims of bullying as well as perpetrators.
The project provides for intensive and long-term active capacity building training of 12 teachers, aiming to improve their capacity to identify bullying timely and to react in situations of bullying and collaborate with children and other stakeholders. There will be supervisions and methodological support regarding specific cases of bullying. Additionally, there will be an extensive training for a total of 120 teachers in the framework of 6 trainings.

The project envisages activities to improve the capacity of stakeholders from the wider community to react in situations of bullying and collaborate with children. 10,500 parents will be targeted with information materials on early signs of bullying and 160 parents will be empowered to provide support of their children.

Through a multi-level child-centered approach, the project aims to evaluate the present legal framework related to bullying prevention in the 7 participating countries and most importantly aims to instigate a public dialogue for policy recommendations.
The project “Strengthening Children’s Voices in EU Society through Child Helplines”, implemented for a period of 2 years and in partnership among 5 EU member states, created conditions for the 116 111 child helplines in Bulgaria, Romania, Poland, Slovakia and the Czech Republic to integrate the child’s point of view by applying a methodology for ensuring child participation in the evaluation of the work of the helpline. Within the project, children and adolescents from 5 EU countries took part in counseling groups which provided the space for the participants to change the child helplines by supporting the helpline professionals in listening to and understanding their thoughts and suggestions about the evaluation and the improvement of the work of the helpline.

Field visits of the 116 111 child helplines in the UK, Bulgaria, Poland, Romania, Slovakia and the Czech Republic were also conducted within the project. During the field visits, the helpline consultants from the different countries presented their method of work and shared experience on the topics of children calling at the helplines as well as in overcoming everyday challenges in the communication with children and young people. After the field visits, representatives of the organizations that attended the thematic trainings multiplied the best practices and experience gained at the field visits among their own home teams via local trainings.
An important workstream of project activities was related with the improvement of the capacity of the child protection system in the five EU countries to respond to the issues of children calling at the 116 111 helplines and to react to reports for at-risk children filed by the child helplines. Within this workstream, a report on the existing procedures of referral between the 116 111 child helplines in Bulgaria, Slovakia, Poland and Romania and the state institutions involved in the protection of children in the respective country was drafted. The successes and failures of the child protection system to respond to reports for at-risk children filed by the 116 111 child helplines in the 5 EU countries were also summarized in an analytic report. Based on these two reports, recommendations for encouraging child participation in the development of services for children were elaborated and disseminated among professionals from the helping professions.

Another important part of the project were the activities for popularizing children’s hot issues in the EU society. A large number of children and parents had the chance to visit the call centers of the 116 111 child helplines in Bulgaria, Poland, Slovakia, Romania and the Czech Republic during open-door days. Leaflets popularizing the support and services offered at the child helplines and e-bulletins reporting on the progress on the topics of the project were also developed and disseminated. The e-bulletins were disseminated among children, parents, professional organizations, etc. An essential part of the activities for raising awareness on the issues of children in the EU society were the Facebook campaigns conducted in each country within which children, parents and professionals had the chance to discuss and give opinions on children’s topical issues. The movies created for the work of the 116 111 child helplines in Bulgaria, Poland, Slovakia, Romania and the Czech Republic with the active participation of children were another important product of the activities under the project.
The overall project goal is to provide possibilities for life free of violence to children, adolescents and women victims of domestic violence, sexual violence or trafficking in human beings in Bulgaria. Specific project objectives are:

1. To provide specialised psychosocial counselling and crisis intervention to children, adolescents and women victims of violence;
2. To facilitate the reintegration of survivors of violence through family and community work, empowerment program and pedagogical program;
3. To further strengthen the quality of the comprehensive care program provided by AAF through supervisions and debriefing seminars.

The provision of good-quality social programs contributes enormously to the lobbying efforts of AAF to justify the development of comprehensive standards for victims of violence. This project supports the psychological and social work of the Crisis Centre “St.Petka”.

In 2014 the project supported a total of 211 clients who benefitted from the full set of psycho-social services available – crisis intervention and psychotherapeutical counselling, empowerment and pedagogical program, family consultations program. The professional community and the team of Animus Association were supported through the programs for community work and methodological support, supervision and debriefing seminars. In 2014 35 multidisciplinary meetings were held, 207 individual clinical supervisions and 60 hours of debriefing seminars.
170 of the supported clients for 2014 were victims of domestic violence (97 of whom were also accommodated at the CC) and 20 were trafficking survivors.
The project "Zippy’s Friends – the Future Citizens of Bulgaria" is financed under the NGO support program in Bulgaria under the Financial Mechanism of the European Economic Area 2009-2014. The project is implemented in partnership between the "Animus Association Foundation" and the Norwegian organization, Voksne for Barn, and is supported by the Regional Inspectorate of Education at the Ministry of Education and Science, Directorate "Prevention, Integration, Sports and Tourism" at Sofia Municipality.

The project aims at expanding community services improving the welfare of vulnerable children by introducing the "Zippy’s Friends Program" in a mainstream school in Bulgaria. "Zippy’s Friends" is a unique program with leading organization Voksne for Barn, Norway. The program is a tool for the prevention of school bullying and the marginalization of children on ethnic, social, physical or other principle, as well as a tool for improving the mental health of children. The program not only improves the social climate in the classroom and children’s coping skills and self-esteem but also their academic achievements. "Zippy’s Friends" is a program that helps children at an early age to develop coping skills so that they can better cope with life crises and difficulties at various stages of their lives.

Some of the most important activities that took place in 2014 within the project were:
- In Bulgaria, experts from the Norwegian organization, Voksne for Barn, trained 12 professionals - psychologists at "Animus Association Foundation" in implementing the program "Zippy’s Friends ";
A survey was conducted among the kindergartens and schools that had expressed an interest in joining the program so as to identify the 20 most vulnerable educational institutions. Out of these 20 schools and kindergartens, 14 schools and kindergartens in the city of Sofia were selected to be included in the program:

- The methodical training package of the program was translated, adapted and printed so as to be available to the teaching staff implementing the program and the children included in it;
- A massive information campaign was held so as to publicize the program within the educational system, among parents and the general public;
- For the first time during the academic year 2014-2015, a program promoting the mental health of children aged 5-7 was implemented in 14 pre-school groups and classes from schools and kindergartens in the city of Sofia;
- In conjunction with the implementation of the program in schools and kindergartens, a study was conducted to assess the program's impact on children and on the climate in the classroom which will function as the basis of a report which will be prepared for the effectiveness of the “Zippy's Friends” program in Bulgaria.

11. Project: Building the capacity of Animus Association Foundation for ensuring sustainability in the implementation of the program “Zippy’s Friends” in popular schools

1.11.2014 – 31.10.2015

Funded by the NGO Support Program in Bulgaria under the Financial mechanism of the European Economic Area

In November 2014 Animus Association Foundation launched the project “Building the capacity of Animus Association Foundation for ensuring sustainability in the implementation of the program “Zippy’s Friends” in popular schools” which will run for 12 months. The project is funded by the NGO Program in Bulgaria under the European Economic Area Financial Mechanism 2009 – 2014.

The project goal is to develop a financial sustainability strategy for AAF’s programs, in particular the “Zippy’s Friends” program and to establish long-term partnerships with the business sector. Diversification of funding sources will facilitate the continuity of AAF’s programs as there is high public interest to them. “Zippy’s Friends” is designed for public schools and addresses problems such as school violence and school bullying. Moreover, the program’s goal is to develop children’s coping skills, to build on their skills for making long-lasting friendships, to improve their conflict resolution skills and their academic achievements.

Diversification of funding sources will ensure the continuity of the program, thus retaining and expanding its effect on children’s psychological health.
The current project plans to involve representatives of the business sector in our activities and to find in them supporters and partners. In the first two months of the project we started active work in internet and the social networks with the purpose to promote AAF’s programs and activities and present the organization to a wider audience.

In addition, an analytical report for evaluation of our previous engagement with the business sector was elaborated.

12. Project: „Development of a National Coordination Mechanism and Standards for Identification, Protection and Support of Women Victims of Domestic Violence"

Funded by the OAK Foundation

The main objective of the project is to provide access to adequate protection and quality services for women and their children who are victims of domestic violence in Bulgaria. It applies equal, quality and competent approach to each victim of domestic violence, regardless of residence, age or marital status. The developed approach aims to ensure the human rights of the survivors of domestic violence.

The main project activities were related to the elaboration of a National Coordination Mechanism for Assistance and Support to Victims of Domestic Violence. The project team was actively involved in lobbying activities for the signing and ratification of the Convention of the Council of Europe for Combating Violence against Women and Domestic Violence. Representatives of the Animus Association Foundation in the National Council for Gender Equality and the Community Council to the Ministry of Labour and Social Policy addressed with priority various issues related to services for victims of domestic violence.

Other key project activities were related to the development of standards for work with victims of domestic violence in social services, increasing the capacity of non-governmental organizations providing services to victims of domestic violence, introducing standards for work with victims of domestic violence in social services through education, trainings for representatives of social services across the country for handling cases of domestic violence, Skype supervisions on cases of domestic violence for organizations in the country, etc.

The continuation of the project in 2014 was related to lobbying for the signing of the National Coordination Mechanism for Assistance and Support to Victims of Domestic Violence. Thanks to the consistent lobbying efforts of the project team, the document was signed by the Minister of Justice.
Zinayda Zlatanova. However it was not adopted by all relevant ministries within the continuation of the project.
13. "Empowering Care. Empowering girls in residential care against violence against women"

January 1st 2013 – December 31st 2014

Funded by the DAPHNE III Program of the European Union, co-funded by the German-Bulgarian Industrial Chamber

The project "Empowering care" in Bulgaria targets young girls who grow up in homes for children deprived of parental care as extremely vulnerable group affected by multiple risk factors for violence. Studies show that the majority of girls are victims of violence and abuse, and traditional gender roles are wrongly perceived, which could lead to further violence towards women at a critical stage of their sexual and emotional development.

Objectives of the project:
• To increase knowledge about the characteristics and prevalence of violence and abuse among girls aged 14-18 years who grow up in institutions under the legal responsibility of public authorities in the EU;
• To enable girls to acquire skills to protect themselves and their peers against violence against women.

Website of the project: http://www.empoweringcare.eu/the-project/
- Country research reports available both in country languages and in English:

- Empowering Care comparative report and executive summaries of the Comparative report:

Empowering Care Handbook for professionals with guidelines for the empowerment of girls in residential care:
The National Campaign “Being a Father”, part of „MenCare – A Global Fatherhood Campaign” encourages the active men involvement in children’s lives with the aim to create a non-violent family environment, that supports child development. In its framework the coalition of 10 NGO’s actively develops activities in the following workstreams:

- Informational and media campaign aiming at promoting “positive model of parenting”, justified through the outcomes of a national representative survey of attitudes
- Direct work in kindergartens and primary schools. Elaboration of educational models and methods, which facilitate the work of teachers and other professionals towards active fatherhood through men involvement.
- Developing a network of partner organizations and advocacy for “Child support and protection policy” to be accepted by private and public organizations and professionals.

As a part of the work in the second work stream, psychologists from Animus Association Foundation carried out a training with 12 teachers from four kindergartens in Sofia. The topic of the training was: “Creation and implementation of methods for support of active fatherhood”. The training aimed at increasing the knowledge and sensitivity of kindergarten teachers to the importance and role of fathers in the development of children. The participants discussed their own difficulties in the everyday work with children and parents. The last part of the training was focused on detailed planning of activities in the kindergartens.

5 more trainings are expected to be carried out until the end of the project and Animus Association Foundation actively participates in the work on a manual for teachers which will summarize the experience gathered from the trainings.
15. Project: “Humanitarian Aid for Women and Children Victims of Violence, Accommodated at the Crisis Center for Survivors of Violence”

September 4th 2014 – March 4th 2015

Funded by the International Women’s Club of Sofia

The project aims at supporting the Crisis Center of "Animus Association" Foundation by providing humanitarian assistance related to the supply of food for women and children victims of violence, accommodated in the center.

The "St. Petka" Crisis Center is the only place in Sofia for accommodation of victims of domestic violence, women and children. The service is used by victims of violence not only from Sofia and Sofia region, but also from throughout the country. The accommodation capacity of the center is 8 beds. The length of the stay is regulated for a maximum period of 3 months.

The Crisis Center includes a set of activities that help victims of domestic violence to cease the circle of violence, to get out of the situations of abuse and to recover from the experience. The process of leaving a violent situation and the recovery is a long and individual one. The time required depends on the duration of violence and the client’s capacity to cope with difficulties.

Emergency accommodation, timely counseling and social advocacy are activities that create the basic conditions for dealing with a violent situation. The 24-hour mode of work of the Crisis Center enables timely support, which in some cases is lifesaving. Many of the women who turn to the Crisis Center for support are in a state of total inability to deal with the situation, provoked by recent beatings and other acts of violence against them or their children, or more generally by an event in their lives, which they feel they cannot cope with. This is usually associated with a sense of the need for urgent change, and at the same time confusion, exhaustion, fear and helplessness.
The project ensured the funding for the provision of food and other humanitarian needs such as medications, medical services, hygiene products to the value of 1200 leva per month for a period of 6 months in 2014 for the capacity of 8 people who used accommodation in Crisis Center, for a period of 30 days per month at the value of 5.00 lev per person per day.
Antisocial behavior is consequences of ignoring some of child’s needs in one’s early childhood. The objective of the project therefore is to develop innovative methods for social work in regions of Latvia to reduce the risk situations that cause antisocial behavior. The objective of the project is to develop innovative working methods in Latvia in order to reduce the risk factors responsible for the antisocial behavior. The target group consists of 48 children who are in a risk of social isolation.

In 2014 the team of Animus Association Foundation had a task to develop a report dedicated to the prevention of children’s antisocial behavior. The team has also shared its working experience. The report included an overview of the legislative framework related to antisocial behaviors and a detailed description of the Center for Rehabilitation, Consultation, Psychotherapy and Psychoanalysis. The report provided information about the prevention programs related to antisocial behavior and about a mental health promotion program which is called “Zippy’s friends”. The program is very useful and beneficial to the children to recognize their emotions and to cope with them in a constructive way.

The final conference will be held in Latvia. The expert from our organization will present our experience and all participants will share good practices in terms of the prevention of the antisocial behavior among children and youths.
In partnership with Dutch Federation of Shelters (project coordination), CoMensha (Dutch Coordination Centre Traffic in Human Beings), Pharos (Dutch expertise centre on migrants, refugees and asylum seekers), Six Dutch (women’s) shelters: HVO Querido, Humanitas, Jade Youth Care, Blijf Groep, Moviera, Het Kopland, Dutch Foundation Religious against Trafficking in Women, Committee of the Support of Dignity of Women (COSUDOW) Nigeria

The project aims at the development and implementation of a methodology to prepare and assist victims of trafficking and victims of domestic violence with residency problems for their return to and reintegration in their country of origin. Through this methodology, the possibility of safe return to and reintegration in the country of origin will be discussed with clients from the onset of their stay within (women’s) shelters. Clients that choose to return will be assisted in their preparation for departure and returned clients will be assisted during their re-integration in their country of origin. Herewith the link between pre-departure counselling and past-arrival reintegration assistance in countries of return will be strengthened.

In connection with the above-mentioned overall project objective the Safe Return Project has the following project goals:

1. Building of a consortium of partners that have expertise in safe return and reintegration of victims of trafficking and victims of domestic violence.
2. Development of a methodology, in the Netherlands and in the countries of origin, to prepare and assist victims of trafficking and victims of domestic violence without or with an uncertain residence permit to return to their country of origin.
3. Provision of return and reintegration counselling through implementation of the new methodology within primary support organizations that work directly with the target groups.
4. Provision of assistance to clients that return to and re-integrate into their countries of origin through implementation of the new methodology. It is expected that app. 20 clients will be assisted with safe return to their home country.
5. Implementation of desk research into factors preventing and stimulating return; main countries of origin of the target groups; channels through which the target groups return; and relevant cooperating partners.
6. Establishment and improvement of a network of cooperating organizations in the Netherlands and in countries of origin that are specialized in assisting the target groups in (preparation of) their return.

7. As a result of the project implementation period: provision of a final methodology and model of cooperation both in the Netherlands and in the countries of origin that can serve as best practices for other countries and follow-up activities for the consortium of partners.

Animus team worked hard on the elaboration of the methodology for safe return of victims of trafficking in view of their country of origin.

In addition, this project supports the activities on assistance and reintegration of victims of trafficking in the Crisis Center.

January 2013 – December 2015

Funded by the ISEC Program of the European Union

Animus Association Foundation implements the project in partnership with the Dutch Helsinki Committee (Project Coordinator), Caritas – Ruse, ADPARE – Romania, „League for Human Rights” – Slovakia, and Association “Pro Refugio” – Romania.

The project aims at creating a network of lawyers who can work on trafficking cases in close collaboration with non-governmental organizations running crisis centers for victims of human trafficking, counselling centers and shelters for survivors of trafficking.

Some of the most important activities that took place in 2014 were:

- Training for lawyers (22 lawyers from 14 towns were trained how to communicate with victims of trafficking and on the specifics of the legal work on trafficking cases);

- Expert meeting for social workers among representatives from 7 main NGOs providing services for trafficked persons from 6 towns and the International Organization for Migration;

- Training of 17 law students was organized in Plovdiv and Ruse for monitoring cases of trafficking in human beings at court;

- On April 25th, 2014 a Round Table was held in Sofia, Bulgaria, entitled “Legal Procedures for Promotion of the Rights of Trafficked Persons in Bulgaria”. A National Report on Promotion of the Rights of Trafficked Persons in Bulgaria was presented at the forum. The round table provided space for debate on the National Report results with representatives of the Supreme Court, the Prosecutor’s Office, Bar Associations, NGOs, Academia, the National Commission for Combating Trafficking in Human Beings, the National Bureau for Legal Aid, and the Ministry of the Interior.

- In the period May-September 2014, 20 court hearings were monitored by the students from the Plovdiv University “Paisii Hilendarski” and those from the Russe University “Angel Kanchev” who were trained under the project in May 2014.
This project is implemented jointly by member-organizations of the NGO platform La Strada International from Bulgaria, the Netherlands, Poland and the Czech Republic, with the cooperation of the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime (UNODC), the International Organization for Migration (IOM), the International Labor Organization (ILO) and ECPAT - End Child Prostitution, Child Pornography And Trafficking of Children for Sexual Purposes.

The overall goal of the project is to reduce employer and consumer demand for products and services that involve the use of trafficked labour, in order to reduce (vulnerability for) exploitation and human trafficking.

In 2014 Animus Association Foundation’s team implemented the following project activities:

1. We held meetings with all stakeholders: from the government sector we held meetings with the Employment Agency and the General Labor Inspectorate. Both state institutions are directly involved in hiring Bulgarian workers abroad and regularly organize campaigns for preventing labor exploitation of Bulgarian workers abroad.

We also held several meetings with Manpower Bulgaria: we chose Manpower since their CSO is prevention of trafficking in human beings. During these meetings we shared experiences and discussed possible cooperation within the current project. In addition, we held a meeting with the Bulgarian representation office of EURES (European Employment Services) - the cooperation network designed to facilitate the free movement of workers within the European Economic Area.

Our goal during all meetings was to combine efforts against trafficking in persons for labor exploitation.
2. On 19-20 June 2014 AAF hosted the 7th NGO Platform in Sofia. 50 representatives of 32 non-profit organizations from 20 European countries gathered to discuss possible ways where and how they can exert influence and establish effective partnerships between civil society structures and the business sector in order to join efforts in combating trafficking in human beings for labor exploitation in Europe. Special attention was paid to the role of the business sector and the role of the consumers for decreasing the demand for products and services that involve the use of trafficked labour.

3. AAF took part twice in the Career Fair organized by “Jobtiger.bg”, one of the biggest recruitment agencies in Bulgaria. We were raising awareness about labor exploitation among employers and people who were looking for jobs.

4. On 18th October 2014 - the EU Anti-Trafficking Day, we sent out a letter to all stakeholders in Bulgaria and launched the “Used in Europe” campaign. The goal of the campaign is to illustrate that labor exploitation is happening not only in Third world countries but also here – in Europe.
20. Project: “TRACE: Trafficking as a Criminal Enterprise”

May 1st 2014 – April 30th 2016

Funded by the European Union’s Seventh Framework Programme for Research, Technological Development and Demonstration.

The current project is being implemented in partnership with TRILATERAL RESEARCH & CONSULTING LLP (UK) – leading organization, VRIJE UNIVERSITEIT BRUSSEL (Belgium), TILBURG UNIVERSITY (the Netherlands), THE COUNCIL OF THE BALTIC SEA STATES SECRETARIAT (Sweden), THE NATIONAL AGENCY AGAINST TRAFFICKING IN PERSONS (Romania), CYPRUS POLICE (Cyprus) and LA STRADA INTERNATIONAL (the Netherlands).

TRACE aims to support stakeholders in combating and disrupting human trafficking, one of the largest criminal enterprises in the world, by assessing and consolidating information surrounding the perpetrators and the wider trafficking enterprise. The project will focus on the activities of the perpetrators by developing an understanding of the structure, social relationships, modus operandi, travel routes and technologies associated with different types of human trafficking. Based on the analysis of perpetrators’ behaviour TRACE seeks to be able to better identify who is in danger of being trafficked and furthermore, who is vulnerable to becoming involved in human trafficking (including those who may have been victims themselves).

In 2014 Animus Association Foundation’s team implemented the following project activities:

1. Contributed to a “Report on the relevant aspects of the trafficking act (geographical routes and modus operandi) and on its possible evolutions in response to law enforcement”.

[Image of TRACE logo]
2. Conducted interviews with convicted persons for trafficking in human beings, victims of trafficking and lawyers of perpetrators and victims for research purposes.

3. Contributed to a “Report on how external factors such as socio, political and economic factors, or interaction with other criminal industries shape the phenomenon of trafficking”.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditor’s judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error.
In making those risk assessments, the auditor considers internal control relevant to the entity’s preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity’s internal control. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.
